Mobile Patrols

Our mobile patrols are a highly visual and physical deterrent, used to deter theft and move unauthorised people off-site. Internal and external patrols are carried out at irregular times so the pattern of patrols remains ambiguous for any unwanted visitors. This will reduce the likelihood of vandalism and theft. As well as deterring criminal activity, Mobile Patrols can prevent the threat of flood, fire or any form of loss and waste.

Patrols are tracked and monitored to give our clients peace complete satisfaction and value for money. Our Mobile Patrol Officers will check that all windows and doors are secured to prevent unauthorised access. Our mobile patrols are highly effective with our locks and unlock service.

Key benefits

-  Visible Crime Deterrent which acts as a warning to any visitors who are thinking of pursuing any unlawful activity. Having security visible can discourage onlookers from indulging in any wrong activity.
-  Cost Savings – A permanent Security Officer might be beyond your budget. If so, you may find mobile patrol service to be much more cost-effective. Having a mobile patrol guards your premises also helps reduce your losses and liabilities from break-ins, vandalism, and other damage.
-  Immediate Response to Emergency Situations – Patrols are mobile and have access to vehicles, patrolling Security Officers can respond promptly to alarms or emergency situations within a few minutes or seconds. Security Officers can provide guidance on protocols such as fire safety, emergency evacuation planning, and health and safety strategies.

Key holding & Alarm Response

Key holding is a specialist security service where a contracted security firm holds a set of keys to your commercial premises — in a secure, off-site location — to be used in the event of a security breach. Key holding puts the responsibility of responding to a security issue, such as a burglary, in the hands of trained, reliable security personnel. Finding a trustworthy key holder is a vital part of running a successful business. An increasing number of businesses understand the risks associated with having their own employees as a key holder. With this in mind, more companies are now opting to manage this risk by outsourcing their key holding to a professional security company.

As your key holder, Continental Security Services GUARANTEE the most efficient response times for alarm response with the assistance of our excellent GPS tracking devices. In the event of alarm activation, our nearest Mobile Patrol Officer can attend immediately by eliminating vital time spent collecting your keys from a central point. Our officer will not vacate the premises until all necessary action is taken and the premises are secure. The response is the key to damage limitation. The sooner we arrive, the less chance of unnecessary disruptions such as vandalism, theft or other forms of loss and waste. We will have a set of keys to access your premises, locked up securely at our own Alarm Receiving Centre and will use them to gain access to the building in the event of an emergency. That means, if at four in the morning an emergency occurs, you're not forcing a member of staff to respond: you're leaving it to security professional.

Key benefits (continued on reverse)

-  Compliance with Health and Safety – A member of your own staff can respond to false alarms with ease, but what happens when the alarm is genuine? A security professional, after calling in the police, may still be forced to take action in order to protect your premises and themselves. Naturally, entrusting this responsibility to a security professional is much more beneficial to you and your business.
-  Guaranteed response – Our Alarm Receiving Centre is manned 24/7 by on-alert security personnel, ready to respond at a moment's notice. Consider how much more efficient this is than leaving the responsibility to a 9-5 employee, who will be at home and will have a vastly more laboured response time.

Continental

-  Eliminates confusion – A professional key holder knows what to do at all times. They're trained for it. Because of this, they will be able to provide an effective response no matter the circumstances. This cannot be guaranteed by leaving your key holding responsibilities in-house — particularly if you have multiple key holders who do not communicate with each other.
-  Your staff remain safe and more productive – If a staff member is forced to respond in the early hours, it means they have their sleep disturbed as they have to wake up, prepare, travel to the site and, in the case of false alarms, travel back home after giving the all clear. The next day, that staff member will, predictably, be far less productive (and probably in a sour mood). If the emergency is a real threat, then they are putting themselves at risk of injury and trauma. Both of these scenarios are best avoided, and that's precisely what professional key holding does.

CCTV Monitoring

Continental Security can provide CCTV installation and maintenance with full documentation, including operation and maintenance manuals and drawings as required. Some security and surveillance systems may require a simple, off-the-shelf solution, others may encompass hundreds of cameras, be spread across a huge site or require special interfacing with other equipment. Our CCTV Systems are linked to our Alarm Receiving Centre and are able to monitor 24hrs a day, 7 days a week.

CCTV monitoring services provide commercial properties, business locations and construction sites with a peace of mind security solution that doesn't require the hiring of additional security staff around the clock. Monitored CCTV deters intruders through the implementation of audio warnings and ensuring immediate action is always taken, whether by contacting key holders or emergency services, to minimise both risk and damage to property and assets. When using unmonitored CCTV in your business, recorded footage can only be retrospectively reviewed: after the damage has already occurred and the intruder has likely already left the area.

If we identify risk to your site, we react immediately by

- 1 Contacting the emergency services.
- 2 Deploying our Mobile Patrol Officers.
- 3 We notify you (or the key-holder, depending on your security instructions)
- 4 And we communicate with intruders, sending audio warnings via loudspeaker.

As our trained CCTV Officers are watching and reporting on live footage, emergency services will react immediately to investigate the issue. In comparison, if it was a static alarm signal, without any visual verification, the incident may be de-prioritised, leading to longer response times and an increased potential for damage or theft.

Key benefits (continued on reverse)

-  The cost savings can be extensive versus contracting numerous full-time Security Officers. Savings will also be made when the CCTV Officer identifies the event and sends a response only when needed.

- Reassurance – You will be immediately notified by qualified staff if an alarm is triggered. If you cannot be contacted, the ARC will contact the other people on your key-holder list

- Reduced insurance premiums – An approved and certificated system can reduce insurance premiums
- Visual verification of events and activation
- Much higher level of reliability, flexibility and significantly more effective

Continental Retail Security

In the current series of phased 'return measures' to Retail Business Operations after the Covid-19 lockdown restrictions, we at Continental Security understand and have identified that assistance towards the safe, successful and effective management of retail operations is essential, and that deterrence and prevention of crime is made further necessary at this difficult time to guard against any additional loss of revenue. Continental Security is aware of the restrictions and efforts being made on management and by staff time engaged in dealing with such measures against theft, the follow-up measures and having staff deployed as a deterrent on the front line. With a return to 'non-essential' shop opening petty crime and thievery is notably returning.

With a proven track record and established partners such as Mitie, NHS, University of Cambridge, East Sussex County Council, and Continental Security have been operating in support of NHS Covid-19 Operations continuously during the crisis responding immediately to NHS requests for additional security support in Trust hospital locations and Partnerships, Testing sites and back up facilities. Support continued supplying security services to assist the Ministry of Justice (MOJ) system and Her Majesty's Courts and Tribunal Services (HMCTS) and the many branded supermarkets operating within the effective control measures and Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point (HACCP) processes.

Continental Security dedicated Retail Security and Supporting Services, (SIA licensed in both covert and overt operations), strive to minimise ongoing losses by identifying and restricting shoplifting, misappropriation, and theft. Continental Security officers are also trained in the control of entry and egress to premises, distancing, and line control, monitoring and accountability of a number of customers on-site, and any search and screening measures anticipated.

Access Control

Access control enables you to control who has access to your building. Locks and keys also allow you to secure your building, but when keys are lost or stolen, the inconvenience and expense of changing locks and re-issuing keys can be considerable. Keys may also be copied, creating even more security risks.

All businesses, whether small, medium or large, have assets that need to be protected from theft. There is also the issue of protecting staff and their belongings when doors are left unlocked all day. This opens up the possibility of opportunist theft and malicious damage. Continental Security wants nothing more than for our clients to know that they feel safe and secure in their building at all times. To do this we only install world-class security systems from leading manufacturers such as Paxton. These systems are handpicked from our experts for their reliable quality and durability.

High-End HD Performance From Pan, Tilt And Zoom Cameras.

Pan, tilt and zoom cameras are the most capable of all CCTV cameras, allowing you to track movement and survey a 360° field of view with pinpoint accuracy. With the remote control, or with the addition of remote monitoring, you can follow scenes in motion, zoom-in and capture details in HD resolution. Alternatively, PTZ cameras can be tailored to scan a designated area automatically.

Thermal CCTV Cameras

In extremely low light, harsh weather conditions or where security is paramount, thermal CCTV is becoming a popular addition to security systems. Detecting thermal energy, these cameras cut through the darkness for unrivalled detection – however, their qualities can often be used for much more than just surveillance.

Unlike day/night cameras, Thermal CCTV doesn't rely on IR LEDs for its range – this means you can detect objects at great distant from just a heat signature. Thermal CCTV is by far the best solution for night-time surveillance, it's the ability to flawlessly detect movement without a false alarm is unrivalled.

Our team can even install Thermal CCTV cameras to work alongside existing security measures, providing you with the advantages of both systems. Thanks to its greater range, Thermal CCTV cameras can out-perform 2 or more standard cameras, allowing you to install much less hardware and equipment and consequently save money.

As well as surveillance, thermal cameras have endless uses in monitoring factory processes. Our cameras can aid food production, ensure quality control or pre-empt machinery downtime.

The Many Uses Of Thermal CCTV Cameras

Thermal cameras can be tailored to identify both uniformity and spikes in temperature – providing essential data about your production process. The need to accurately monitor the temperature of foods in the cooking, chilling and freezing processes is integral within food manufacturing plants and is, therefore, the quality control method of choice for many production and manufacturing premises across the world.

Continental[®] CCTV Systems Available

Remote CCTV Monitoring

Don't put staff or keyholders at risk – our remote operatives can verify alarms using your CCTV feeds and consequently call for police response. Connecting your CCTV system to our accredited Remote Monitoring Station allows all threats to be seen, heard and dealt with, regardless of the time of day or night. In the event of a trigger, operatives are able to assess the situation in real-time before deciding on the best course of action to rectify the situation.

In the event of an alarm, your CCTV cameras can be utilised by our monitoring team to identify the trigger and verify the alarm, allowing Police to intervene. With CCTV monitoring you can rest assured that your property is being watched overnight and day by professionals – your security never sleeps. In the event of an intrusion, rather than deterring thieves through sirens or audible challenge, your monitoring can be tailored to trigger a silent alarm. Once verified, Police can then attend the scene to apprehend thieves in the act.

Our monitoring teamwork as your on-site security guards – without costly fees or putting people at risk. Using speakers on-site, we can challenge and deter intruders by making sure they know they are being watched via CCTV.

Complete Peace Of Mind

Remote CCTV monitoring also helps reduce the need for an on-site security guard whose safety could be threatened in the event of a potential intruder or incident, it also eliminates the requirement for an on-site monitoring station which is very costly to set up and maintain. CCTV monitoring can be tailored to all times of the day, or simply outside of working hours.

Video Analytics

Video analytics is the art of training your HD CCTV cameras to work as security guards. With set routines and tasks, your cameras can identify certain scenes or movement and alert you to the threat. CCTV working in this way can provide preventative protection for your business, rather than simply analysing past scenes.

Analytics evolves your CCTV systems into a living, breathing security guard – able to track movement, trigger alarms and collect vital data. Your cameras can be security guards, able to track individuals and follow them through the environment – triggering alarms in the event of intrusion.

Designate virtual perimeters on fence lines, restricted areas or even no-parking zones. If entered by a person or vehicle, an alarm can be triggered. Unlike traditional CCTV which may only record evidence of a crime taking place, Video Analytics can be trained to spot crimes before they are committed. Guards can be alerted upon intrusion or suspicious activity whilst your cameras continue to capture the scene in full HD quality for later review.

With Video Analytics, your cameras work in unison with access control, intruder alarms and gate automation to provide 24/7 surveillance. Audit trails can be verified in HD footage and incidents can be caught proactively as well as stored for later review.

Advanced Detection & Business Insights

Traditional CCTV cameras once surveyed a scene, offering historic footage to be recalled in the event of a crime or incident. Today, video analytics can help your cameras to do much more. From movement detection on virtual perimeters to advanced object tracking and facial recognition, our systems can be tailored to any security challenge or scenario.

Continental Traffic Management

A well-designed Traffic Management system can ease traffic congestion, improve road safety, monitor incidents, and inform motorists and authorities of any potential problems on the road ahead. Continental Security is skilled in providing tailor-made, intelligent systems for traffic management.

Traffic management CCTV systems use Automatic Number Plate Recognition cameras to monitor the flow of traffic between two points. These ANPR cameras scan the traffic at various number plate points on a network and match them further down the road to measure journey times. Images from traffic cameras are not recorded but instead stream live via an IP network to a Traffic Management centre, where they can be viewed and processed. Slow-moving traffic is highlighted, and appropriate action can then be taken, whether by altering traffic signals, adding messages to matrix signs, creating diversions, alerting the police or even sharing the information via social media.

Continental Security has worked extensively with Kent County Council installing and maintaining over 200 cameras around the South East.
